Setting the Stage	Ask about 4 seasons: What do you like to do in each season? What is your favorite and why? In Japan, there is an art that makes use of the 4 seasons and nature.
List Input Activities	Brief explanation of Ikebana, when it started, why it started, why it is still practiced today. List 3 basic shapes of Ikebana and show examples. Introduce the Japanese words for the 4 seasons and several Japanese seasonal plants/flowers.
List Guided Activities	Flyswatter game to see if the can match plant/flower pics to correct seasons. Teachers facilitate the game as they call out each plant/flower and help kids focus on meaning and association. Afterward as a class, think of other seasonal plants/flowers, or, if they can't think of any, think of seasonal colors for flowers.
List Independent Activities	Create a personal Ikebana scene out of markers and/or cut out colored paper. Each piece is to which season and one of the 3 shapes it's supposed to be.
List Assessment/Applicati on Activities	Quiz handout that requires kids to match the seasons with the correct seasonal plants/flowers. Also, to simply draw the 3 basic shapes of Ikebana.
